JUNE WEEK BEGINS FOR MIDSHIPMEN

Naval Academy Exercises Will Be Opened Formally Tomorrow.

THOUSANDS TO VISIT ANCIENT ANNAPOLIS

Period of Social Gayety Will Mark Close of School Year for Admirals-to-Be.

ANNAPOLIS, May 30. - Beginning formally tomorrow, the ceremonies of "June week" at the Naval Academy, during which elaborate ceremonies and exercises take place in the presence of the board of visitors, actually commenced on Saturday, when thou-sands of persons from all over the United States came to Annapolis to witness the annual baseball game be-tween the Naval and Military Academy nines, and many stayed over to the hop given in the evening by the midshipmen to the military cadets, who had been their fair conquerors who had been their fair conquerors on the bail field that afternoon. Sunday, Chaplain H. H. Clark preached a farewell sermon to the graduates, and on Monday evening the annual entertainment of the Masqueraders, the midshipmen's theatrical organization, took place. Thus, incidents connected with commencement week began three days in advance of the official reception of the members of the board, which will take place tomorrow moreing.

Not Mere Social Gayety.

According to the popular notion, June week is a period of social gayety at the Academy with the interesting drills and practical exercises thrown in to give a reason for the coming together of so many people. To the relatives and friends of the gradu-ates, the day on which the youth in whom they are particularly interested receives his diploma, crowns the week and makes the reason for all the and makes the reason for all the events which lead up to it.

That the desire of the lawmaking authorities of the nation to learn the needs of the institution for the training of its naval officers furnishes the fundamental reason for all that takes place is often lest sight of, yet an examination of the program will show that the drills and practical exercises are not offered merely as an exhibition to amuse or interest, but are admirably arranged to illustrate all that goes into the training of the young men who are to hold commissions as naval officers.

Board Is Named

Board Is Named.

The board of visitors has been appointed by the President and Congress with a view to getting together those men who have manifested an interest men who have manifested an interest in the affairs of the navy and the Naval Academy, and who are fitted by experience to make recommendations which will contribute to the good of the institution and service. It is composed as follows: United States Sanators S. D. McEnery, Louisiana, and United States S. D. McEnery, Louisiana, and United States S. D. McEnery, Louisiana, and United States A. L. Bates, Pennaylvathe, Isematives A. L. Bates, Pennaylv in the affairs of the navy and the Naval Academy, and who are fitted by of a fleet according to the orders from the flagship.

At the dress parade in the evening the colors for "general excellence" will be presented to the company which has won them according to the unique system by which excellence in the professional branches and proficiency in athletics of each midshipman are given due weight, and placed to the credit of the company to which he belongs.

The competition this year is very close and has narrowed down to two companies, the First, commanded by W. A. Richardson, of Tennessee, and the Fourth, commanded by A. H. Gray, of Massachusetts.

Wednesday there will be a ctreet-riot drill, an artillery drill, and an exhibition of small-arm practice. The feature of the parade will be the presentation of a number of awards and the announcements of honors won by the midshipmen during the year.
